

SHAWN O'ROURKE

PRESIDENT, PRO-CONCEPTS, LLC

Shawn O'Rourke is the President of Pro-Concepts, LLC, which provides Risk Management, Program Management, Systems Engineering and Independent Assessments services through its experts and custom-built risk management software called "Risk Radar® Enterprise" and "Risk Radar® 2012".

For more than three decades Shawn has been a leader in systems evaluations as a Naval Officer and an entrepreneur. As a vice president at American Systems, he was directly responsible for the development of a risk management application known as Risk Radar Enterprise. Risk Radar was developed based on 15 years of experience in providing program and risk management services and products to U. S. Government, Defense Department and commercial clients.

American Systems ceded full rights of the software to Shawn in 2011, when he founded Pro-Concepts with Risk Radar Enterprise serving as its flagship product.

Shawn is a proven information technologist with 31 years of military and commercial specialized experience in advancing program/financial management practices, information technology, software engineering, and risk management for Federal, Department of Defense and commercial organizations.

Today, Shawn leads a specialized team of experts at Pro-Concepts that provides Risk Management products and services to clients worldwide.
